Dating for the over 30's, through exclusive Personal Introductions

Setting the scene

- The world of dating has changed incredibly over recent years. As little as 10 years ago just 2.5 million people in the UK were using organised dating and today that figure approaches 16 million.
- Online Dating first came into the UK in 1999. Since then millions of people have tried it - some have found love and romance online but many have found heartbreak and as a consequence, online dating is not the right choice for everyone.
- Following continued adverse publicity in the media, including the TV and leading British newspapers, online dating has seen a major decline in popularity in recent times.
- False accounts, highly personal data being bought and sold, online fraud and the fact that no background checks whatsoever are required for online dating membership in the UK - this has led many people to seek a better alternative.
- So if you're looking for a safer, confidential and more sophisticated approach to meeting potential new partners, then our service at Matchmakers Dating could be perfect for you.
- So why not take that step and get in touch today? We will get your extensive search underway immediately for your perfect partner.
- Happiness and a new shared lifestyle may be nearer than you think.

Matchmakers is all about you

Matchmakers is about you and your personal search for that special partner. It is also about setting the right sort of standards and refusing to settle for second best.

About Matchmakers

- Matchmakers is a bespoke, personal matchmaking service that is dramatically different to online dating, if you have experienced it, as a highly trained Personal Matchmaker will be working with you to identify the right people for you, based upon your personal preferences.
- We have access to a large, ever changing and growing database of personally interviewed and vetted singles of the right calibre, genuinely looking for an exclusive and potentially long term relationship.
- We don't randomly match our clients by computer. Instead your Personal Matchmaker will carefully select matches for you to ensure you are only introduced to someone we feel has real potential as your future partner.
- Our suggestions are sent to you in the form of a profile with photographs and your matchmaker will be on hand to discuss these suggestions as well as to support you in your search for a partner. We understand your situation and we are on hand to ease your way along this exciting journey.
- To ensure you are only meeting genuine singles, all our new clients are asked to provide proof of ID, age and address as well as two recently taken photographs (which we can take for you or you can provide to us), so you can meet our other members with complete confidence.

We have been creating happy couples since 2004

We find it an extremely rewarding experience...

How we work

- As soon as you decide that you would like to go ahead we will arrange for your consultation at your home or at a location convenient for you. You are of course also most welcome to come into our offices if you prefer. You will find your consultation to be a friendly, relaxed and private conversation with one of our experienced Personal Matchmakers.
- Your Matchmaker will get to know you and discuss your preferences with you. This helps us to understand the sort of person that we are looking for on your behalf. We will draw up a professional profile of you for your approval that includes your photographs, then get to work, searching from within our extensive client list for introductions to suggest to you.
- Most of our clients are from a professional, academic or business background and are often higher net worth individuals. In every case they are the sort of people who are serious about investing in their future happiness by using our service, rather than leaving things to chance.
- So you see, this is a comprehensive and highly professional service. Your membership will provide 12 months of a personal matchmaking with an additional 6 months service FREE OF CHARGE if necessary, to help find the one you seek and initial consultations are always completely free and without obligation.

Meeting the one you have been searching for

Can truly change your life forever...!
